Thanks for the encouragement.

The project is going to take a back seat while we work on exams for the next couple of weeks. After that though we're going to be back into it, working hard.

Hello guys

Just thought I would drop you a line.

I have just been to the Computer and Information Sciences Final Year Project Showcase.

This just got so real. What an amazing showcase.

I can't wait to see you guys standing there with your poster and your successful app development.

Don't falter – keep up the hard work. Your time to shine is approaching fast.

Kind regards

Sonia
