

Sprint 0 Goal

Our goal in sprint 0 is to convert the requirements outlined in the project proposal documents into user stories. We will play planning poker in order to decide on the story point value of each user story. We will then load these user stories and associated values into our “code” trello board. We will also create at least 2, preferably 3, acceptance tests for each user story. Finally we will select user stories to be started in sprint 1.

We will complete this Sprint 0 by 30th March.
